Question:	It is noted that you have already met with the SME 'Breakfast Club" and other I&C customers in MK; to what extent have you had organisations sign up in principle if this goes ahead? What evidence do you have that you will secure 10-15 participants?

Answer:	As part of the project development, we have met with a number of I&C customers and other companies through the local SME breakfast club. We have received positive verbal interest from the following companies: • Global Facilties Santander • Red Bull Technology • Cranfield University Estate • Buckingham Foods • Domino Pizza HQ • MK Hospital • SMC Pneumatics • REXAM • Intervet/Schering Plough We still have a number of companies to visit.

	We have been working closely with the business engagement section of Milton Keynes Partnership and believe we can secure arrangements with 10-15 I&C customers. We are also evaluating the possibility of putting contractual arrangements in place with aggregators such as Flexitricity, as referenced in our appendices. The aggregators we have spoken to have confirmed their ability to secure demand response within the trial area. We are also engaging with National Grid to receive their support for our commercial propostions. Milton Keynes provides a fantastic number of large, medium and smaller companies who have low carbon aspirations.
