

To whom it may concern,

As a local and native Shetlander, I am sending this email to note my opposition to the proposed wind farm on Shetland. This wind farm is of a massive size to the land mass and population is known as 'largest wind farm in Scotland'. This is not something to be proud of as the effect that such a sizeable wind farm shall have on the health of those living within it shall be significant.

Further to this the area suggested for this project is that of peat, which has been affected by landslides in past years, without any building or ground works taking place. These areas are also massive areas of natural unspoilt landscape important to a variety of different wildlife and nature, this project shall damage this environment and likely have a devastating impact for the future. With this in mind a more sustainable size of an onshore wind farm or an off shore wind farm as a resource of renewable energy, would be more appropriate for this small Scottish island.

With these points above please note my objection to the proposed Viking Energy Wind farm, looking to be developed on Shetland.

Yours faithfully
