

Hello,

We would respond as follows:

"There must be different requirements depending upon the size of the network and cost of supply, particularly with regards to properties with a single gas boiler / heat pump that is delivering heat / hot water to relatively few people. How is it possible to measure individual consumption in these instances, and what do you do about communal heating?"

Kind regards,

Hannah

Hannah Mursell

Business Support Manager

02380 717279