Aidien - Distribution Flexibility Services Procurement Statement.

1. Introduction.

Aidien Limited (Aidien) is an Independent Distribution Network Operator (IDNO). We operate networks in all UK Distribution Network Operators Service Areas. This statement is provided in support of Aidien's Electricity Distribution Standard Licence Condition 31E: Procurement and Use of Distribution Flexibility Services and has been prepared in a form approved by Ofgem.

2. Flexibility Services Requirements.

Aidien has commenced Controlled Market Entry and is scheduled to adopt and operate network assets from Q2 2026. At this stage, we have not identified any short or medium term requirements to introduce flexibility on our future networks and therefore have no current plans to procure flexibility services. Our planned networks will consist of newly constructed electricity networks on new developments, which are expected to provide sufficient capacity to meet both current and forecast demand. As a result, we do not anticipate a need for asset replacement, network reinforcement, or the procurement of flexibility services.

3. Tendering Process.

As Aidien does not anticipate any requirement for flexibility services in the short or medium term, we do not have a requirement for a tendering process at this time. Should this position change in the future, we will develop and implement robust procurement processes as required.

4. Stakeholder Engagement.

As there are currently no identified requirements for the procurement of flexibility services in the foreseeable future, we do not have any plans for stakeholder engagement at this time.

5. Detailed Quantitative Assessment.

As there is no anticipated requirement for flexibility services in the short or medium term, Aidien does not currently have a need to undertake a detailed quantitative assessment.

Yours sincerely,
