Notes on completing this application form and submitting your electricity licence application

These notes aim to answer the key questions you may have in making an electricity licence application. All applicants must also read our full guidance on licence applications which available on the Ofgem website before completing this form.

You may use this electricity licence application form to make an application for the following electricity licences:

An electricity supply licence allows the licensee to supply electricity to premises. An electricity supply licence may authorise the holder to supply domestic and non-domestic premises, or to non-domestic premises only.

An electricity generation licence allows the licensee to generate electricity for the purpose of giving a supply to any premises or enabling a supply to be given.

An electricity distribution licence allows the licensee to distribute electricity for the purpose of enabling a supply to be given.

An electricity transmission licence allows the licensee to participate in the transmission of electricity for the purpose of enabling a supply to be given.

An electricity interconnector licence allows the licensee to participate in the operation of an electricity interconnector. Participating in the operation of an electricity interconnector is defined as

- co-ordinating and directing the flow of electricity into or through an electricity interconnector, or
- making such an interconnector available for use for the conveyance of electricity.

A load control licence allows the licensee to participate in load control activity. Participating in load control activity is defined as:

- a) creating or changing a load control signal, or controlling the timing of the sending of a load control signal for the purpose of adjusting the immediate or future flow of electricity into or out of an energy smart appliance or another appliance in response to the load control signal.
- b) entering into a legally enforceable arrangement with a consumer to provide load control at that consumer's premises.

Note: Please note this application does not apply to applications for an offshore transmission licence.

You may also use this form to make an application for the extension or restriction of an existing electricity supply, or electricity distribution licence or load control licence.

Or

The modification of an area of an existing electricity transmission licence. Please note: An application may not be made on the same form for more than one licence - use a separate form for each licence application.

This is the end of the draft application form.
