Dear Callum

Review of domestic gas and electricity competition and supply price regulation
Conclusions and final proposals

I was pleased with the final proposals for the removal of supply price controls in the domestic gas and electricity markets as published on 20th February 2002 and I wish to congratulate you and your team in achieving this major milestone in utility regulation.

I can confirm that British Gas Trading Limited will accept the proposals and we look forward to receiving formal notification of the modifications to our suppliers' licences in due course.

Yours sincerely

Mark Clare
