Gas connections workshop

Thank you for attending the connections workshop on 15 July.

Attached to this letter is a note of the principal recommendations / points debated in the afternoon workgroup sessions. Please let me know by Friday 23 July if you feel that any substantive points have been omitted / require amendment. The final version will be placed on the Ofgem website shortly thereafter.

At the close of the workshop I said that I would be asking people to present their views as to the nature of the actual standards, i.e. areas of work covered, time allowed to perform and monetary payment associated with failure that would be sufficient to act as an incentive for a GT to perform.

I would be grateful if you could present your recommendation in the following format:

- Area of work requiring a standard e.g. domestic one-off
- Time allowed to perform e.g. ten working days
- Payment per failure per working day or other time period (include any multiplier effect)

I would be grateful to receive any response by 30 July 2004. Please state if you wish us to simply refer to earlier representations that you have made.

Once again I would like to thank you for your input.

Yours sincerely,

Sean O'Hara
Head of connections
