Dear Sir/ Madam,

Developing electricity transmission access arrangements – industry meeting

Ofgem published the conclusions of work by the Access Reform Options Development Group (ARODG) - considering the frameworks through which generators gain access to the transmission network - on 11 May 2006. In our covering letter to that document, we indicated our intention to hold open meetings to discuss responses and related issues.

Two meetings have been scheduled. The first will be held at Ofgem's Glasgow offices at 70 West Regent Street from 13:00 to 16:30 on Thursday 6th July. The second will be held at our London offices from 10.30 to 14.00 on Friday 7th July. The meetings will provide an opportunity to question members of the ARODG and we will be asking group members to present their views on the appropriate way forward.

Priority has been given to respondents to the ARODG report, although a number of places remain available. Should you wish to attend either meeting or have any further questions please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours sincerely

Mark Copley
