

RPI-X@20 Emerging Thinking on 'A new regulatory framework for energy networks'

AGENDA

23rd March 2010: 10.00 until 15.30

Ofgem, 9 Millbank, London, SW1P 3GE

Session
9:45: Welcome and coffee
10.00: Introduction and objectives of session Chairman: Michael Pollitt, Cambridge University
10.10: Overview of RPI-X@20 Emerging Thinking Cloda Jenkins, Head of Regulatory Review
10.30: The new regulatory framework will encourage innovation on energy networks and will encourage delivery of a sectoral solution to delivery of a low carbon economy. Discuss. Ofgem presentation (5mins) Goran Strbac, Imperial College (5mins) Open discussion
11.30: The new regulatory framework will ensure that energy networks, and Ofgem, focus on the needs of consumers and other stakeholders. Discuss. Ofgem presentation (5mins) Jon Stern, City University (5mins) Open discussion
12:25: Buffet lunch and coffee
13.05: The new regulatory framework will encourage competition in delivery, ensuring innovation, value for money and facilitating energy service companies. Discuss. Ofgem presentation (5mins) Martin Cave, Warwick University (5mins) Open discussion
14.00: The new regulatory framework will provide strong and targeted efficiency incentives on network companies for the long term. Discuss. Ofgem presentation (5mins) Goran Strbac, Imperial College (5mins) Open discussion
15.00 Round-up of key issues and way forward
15.30: Close and coffee