Question:	The date for the initial public seminar is 12/2011; Please confirm that this is the first planned engagement.

Answer:	Our first public engagement is scheduled for August 2011, which will be first in a series of conferences that the Project will deliver specifically designed for dissemination and engagement with stakeholders and the public. We intend to present at such conferences on an annual basis. In conjunction with our dissemination partner, the Joule Centre, we propose to implement DNO specific forum, the first of which will be scheduled for December 2011. This will provide progress updates on the Project and learnings gained to date and will enable discussion and debate with industry peers. The various aspects of information being presented at these fora will be available via the Project website as part of our commitment to be open and transparent. We will continuously engage with our stakeholders predominately through the proposed Project website, which will contain weekly updates, an online bulletin board, and other collaborative opportunities; this facility will be available at the commencement of the Project.
