Archived Environmental Advisory Group minutes

The Sustainable Development Advisory Group (SDAG) is an independent panel of experts that helps to guide us on environmental and consumer issues. The group is made up of policy experts from Government, industry and interest groups who advise us on our priorities for our work as it relates to sustainable development.

Prior to 2011, there were two separate groups in the place of the SDAG: the Social Action Strategy Review Group and the Environmental Advisory Group. Minutes of the Environmental Advisory Group meetings are linked to this document as associated documents.
