Question	Can you please expand on your assertion that you are confident you have sufficient resources to deliver the project?
Notes on question
Answer	In section 6, page 40, we have outlined a project Organogram which will form the core internal team for the delivery of the project. Of these roles, all positions have been filled except the two project coordinators which will be appointed in due course. These positions are on a secondment basis to allow for staff rotation which will allow them to be filled very quickly. Due to the business need and benefit for this project offers, we already have strong buy-in from the wider business. This has included engagement with our operations team to assist with the installation process, the design and asset management team for equipment approvals and other assistance such as Health & Safety and Procurement. Resource from other business units has been factored into our internal production plan process which forms the basis for our resource planning for 2012 and future years. Only where necessary will we complement our resourcing with contractors to assist with project delivery, mainly for specialist services

	where we do not have the in-house capability. We will only use contractors where necessary to complement the delivery of the project to ensure that we do not lose any of the learning gained through the project. As highlighted at our initial presentation to the Expert Panel, our Chief Executive of SP Energy Networks is fully engaged with the project and prepared to resource the project as necessary.
