

The background of the slide features a close-up, artistic photograph of interlocking metal gears. The lighting is dramatic, with bright highlights and deep shadows, creating a sense of motion and mechanical complexity. The colors are primarily metallic greys and blues, with some warmer tones where the light hits the edges of the teeth.

Workshop 3: Gas SCR draft policy decision

Working through the business rules

15th February 2012

- We would like to take this opportunity to thank stakeholders for responding to our draft policy decision
- While we will consider these responses in detail we plan to use today to work through the business rules in detail
- Even if the policy changes (given responses) we see merit in going through the business rules in detail in order to identify areas:
 - that will require code and licence changes
 - where there are different views on the underlying policy
 - where stakeholders will need to change their current processes
 - where further development is needed
- National Grid Gas will now take us through the business rules

The background of the slide is a composite image. On the left, there are rows of solar panels under a bright sun. On the right, a hand is shown holding a white document. In the bottom left corner, a blue gas burner is visible. The overall theme is energy and customer service.

ofgem

Promoting choice and value for all gas and electricity customers