

Dear Sir,

I consider that fully qualified Home Inspectors are have the knowledge to be able to carry out the Surveys for HTT cavity walls as our qualification and curriculum where conceived for us to provide condition reports on domestic properties which gave us knowledge and experience of the type of properties likely to have HTT cavity walls.

The previous government backtracked during enactment to make the provision of Home Condition Reports voluntary instead of compulsory within the HIP and your government abolished the HIP altogether

So I believe it is reasonable to make the provision of these surveys within the domain of Home Inspectors as well as of RICS Surveyors.
