

Domestic standards of conduct – publication of correct modification direction

Due to an administrative error we have discovered that the incorrect modification direction for modifications to the standard conditions of the electricity supply licence was published on Friday 28 June 2013. We have therefore published today (1 July 2013) the correct modification direction. The implementation date for these modifications remains 26 August 2013. In line with the envisaged implementation date stated in the statutory consultation notice dated 17 May 2013 and subsection 23(9) of the Electricity Act 1989, the implementation date is a date which is not less than 56 days from the publication of the Authority's decision and the correct modification direction.
