Answer	The table below is reproduced from Q29 for ease of reference. <table border="1" style="width: 100%; border-collapse: collapse;"> <thead> <tr> <th style="width: 25%;">Project Partner</th><th>Calculated funding benefits to FLARE</th></tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>Combined Heat and Power Association (CHPA)</td><td>The CHPA has offered a number of 'free of charge' consultancy days towards the delivery of the FLARE Project. Their contribution represents [REDACTED] of their total costs. FLARE will benefit from the CHPA's involvement as they will bring their knowledge and experience of their industry in the development of the customer survey materials; plus the CHPA will provide legitimacy to the FLARE Project through their endorsement to complete the customer survey and participate in the FLARE Trials for the FCL service.</td></tr> </tbody> </table> The table on page 22 of the Full Submission details the total number of days the CHPA will work on the FLARE project, including the 'free of charge' consultancy days. The CHPA will also be funded for travel and expenses and so the quoted [REDACTED] figure quoted in Appendix F represents their [REDACTED] contribution against their total costs (ie consultancy days and travel and expenses), as stated in the answer to Q29.			Project Partner	Calculated funding benefits to FLARE	Combined Heat and Power Association (CHPA)	The CHPA has offered a number of 'free of charge' consultancy days towards the delivery of the FLARE Project.
