

Colin

Thank you for the opportunity to comment again on the form of the DCC charging Statements. In general, we believe these statements, in isolation, provide a good level of detail to enable us to understand the charges we are paying.

However, one specific area we believe could be improved, is that of how / why the view has changed from one statement to the next. It is difficult, from a DCC User perspective, to follow what has / has not been included on each statement, from the previous version issued and to reconcile this to changes in costs, relating to change requests. It would therefore be really helpful, if DCC provided some form of appendix to each statement, describing where the charges differ between previous versions issued.

Thank you

Tim

Tim Newton
E.ON Energy Solutions