

No doubt you have had many emails on the subject of landbased windmills on Shetland. There are few words left to say on the subject , but I wish to add my name to the list. Anybody who doesn't actually live on these islands, has no idea the devastation these monstrosities will impact on our beautiful home. Please please think long and hard before you take another step towards the ruination of one of the most unique places on earth. Not only will it spoil our very special scenery, kill off a huge majority of our wildlife and create chaos all over, it will have a massive impact on the health and well being of everyone who stays here. It is well known fact that the noise alone, has huge consequences on human health. There are other options that could be on the table, that could save the day. Please, I beg you, stop this madness now.
