

Good afternoon.

I am writing to strongly object to the proposed wind farm on Shetland. No thought has gone into the massive environmental and tourism effects this will have. We have over 100 cruise ships per year and thousands of other tourists ,with the massive destruction of our scenic island this will disappear.

Several local councillors past and present have a vested interest in this wind farm and stand to gain financially from it. How can this be proper?

I know you will consider this a disgruntled islander complaining again , but as someone who has lived here all my life I am concerned that as always big business controls the little man.
