1. Social landlord is defined in article 2 and paragraph 4 of the schedule 1 of the ECO3 Order 2018. For more information on how to identify a social landlord, refer to Appendix 2 of the Ofgem ECO3 Guidance: Delivery.

2. A "pre-installation EPC" refers to an EPC relating to premises where an ECO measure is installed, that is the most recent of any EPC for the premises issued before the measure was installed;

3. The signatory must review the available evidence and records relating to the premises prior to signing this declaration. The presence of a central heating system (including district and renewable heating) or a working, efficient electric storage heater (that is an electric storage heater that is not broken down, or has a responsiveness of greater than 0.2 when assessed against SAP) can be identified with reference to any available evidence within or records relating to the premises. Examples could include an old boiler, pipework, heating controls, radiators, storage heaters or documents such as an EPC.
